

11 YAQUIS ARE PUT TO DEATH

Chief Oroz and Followers Executed; Indians Behead 6 Chinamen.

Agua Prieta, Sonora, Nov. 28.—Word was received here by the military this morning that a Yaqui chief named Oroz, together with ten followers, had been executed at Mazatlán, north of Magdalena, in this state. The execution took place Wednesday after the Indians had made a raid on several small ranches in the vicinity of the day before.

Indiana Massacre Charge.—Mazatlán, Sonora, Nov. 28.—Colonel Frederick H. Hays, military commander of this district, reported today that during a raid of the Yaqui Indians south of here early yesterday on several Chinese ranches, the warriors killed and beheaded six Chinese, after stealing everything of value and driving off all the livestock in the vicinity. A detachment of federal troops has been sent in pursuit of the Indians, says the commander.

Arms Found In Cave On Road Built By Villa

Carrancistas Find Rifles of Hungarian Make; Cache Is Now Guarded.

Agua Prieta, Sonora, Nov. 28.—Carrancista soldiers on duty in the mountain passes on the Chihuahua-Sonora state line have uncovered vast quantities of arms and ammunition in a cave close to the road built by Pancho Villa several years ago when he invaded this state with his army from Chihuahua in hopes of ousting Gen. Calles's troops from this section and capturing this border port.

According to the military, there are thousands of rounds of ammunition for rifles and shotguns and several thousand shrapnel shells in the cave, together with several hundred rifles of Hungarian make.

A heavy guard has been placed about the cave and a close watch is being kept on all trails in the vicinity leading to the mountain pass, say the military officials.

CARRANCIER DAY.—As tomorrow is the last Saturday in this month, your carrier will call to collect. Please be prepared to settle with him.

AMERICANS IN SONORA SAFE

Ryan and Party Are Heard From—Garbled Telegrams Cause Scare.

Pat Ryan, general manager of the Chihuahua mines in western Chihuahua, who, with C. B. Kline, a friend, and a mechanic and an electrician, were down in Sonora, near Sahuaripa, on business, have been heard from and are safe.

The uneasiness about them was due to some garbled telegram, according to U. S. J. Harkins, auditor of the company, who is here from Chicago on a periodic visit.

Telegrams received during Thursday set the matter right and assured officials of the company that the men are safe and will be back in El Paso in a few days.

The officials were inspecting some properties in Sonora.

LUIS CARRERA TO RETIRE.—Luis Carrera, secretary of the treasury of Mexico, has given formal notice that he will retire when Carranza leaves office. The notice was carried in Mexico City newspapers arriving at the border Thursday night.

Angeles Feared An Invasion, Intervention

That Was Why He Went to Mexico; Betrayed by Columbus Raiders.

Gen. Felipe Angeles was in Mexico in an attempt to prevent all factions of Mexicans together to avoid foreign intervention, according to latest advice received at the border regarding what he said at his trial.

Gen. Angeles in denying the charge of being a rebel, asserted that he came to Mexican territory on December 12 of last year for propaganda work among all Mexicans, rebels and pacific alike, on behalf of the union of all Mexicans, in order to save Mexico from foreign armed intervention, which he asserted, would come surely in the present disturbed condition in Mexico.

When questioned regarding his relations with Villista, he said he was not ashamed of having dealings with such an arch murderer and bandit, but that "he is the product of Mexican conditions and environment."

Regarding the society, Angeles, a liberal Mexican, said the idea of forming it was suggested by the Porfirian in the United States and that he, under orders of that corporation, went to Mexico to get the adhesion of all the rebels.

Two Trials Are Set.—Angeles's trial, which was set for today, was postponed because of the illness of Gen. Angeles, who was with him while in Mexico and surrounded by a large force of soldiers and soldiers of the United States army.

Angeles, in his plea for better relations with Villista, said that he acted during the world war as an inspector of ammunition for the French government in Mexico.

This question was put to him and he said that he was not.

The appeal for democracy for Angeles, which was presented by Carranza from Chihuahua City, was joined in by the German collector, as well as the French and American colonies.

FALL AND HOWZE DISCUSS MEXICO

Both Governments Keeping in Close Touch With Developments.

The Mexican situation was one of the subjects discussed Friday morning at a conference between United States senator A. B. Fall, of New Mexico, and Maj. Gen. Robert L. Howze, district commanding officer. The conference was held at the Paso del Norte and lasted from about 10 o'clock until noon. It is known that senator Fall has expected for some time to learn from Gen. Howze what he knows about the border angle of the Mexican situation and in turn advise Gen. Howze as to the attitude of Washington toward recent developments in the neighboring republic.

Plan Final Conference.—A final conference also was held between senator Fall and Capt. W. M. Hanson, of San Antonio, who is directing work of collecting evidence for the defense of the Mexican situation. Senator Fall was to have returned to Washington this afternoon and Capt. Hanson is going back to San Antonio.

In consultation with the Mexican situation, it was stated by persons in close touch with what is going on that new telegrams between Mexico City and representatives of the Mexican government here were being sent daily. Mexico is being advised regularly of what is taking place in the United States.

Told "To Do Duty".—That the military court which tried and convicted Gen. Felipe Angeles in Chihuahua was told to "do his duty" is charged in a communication received by senator Fall from a man who was in Chihuahua during the trial. What the communication states in substance is that president Carranza kept in close touch with the military court and virtually directed its verdict.

The Mexican situation, senator Fall believes, will be the first and most important business to come before the military court in the near future. The hearings of the subcommittee on Mexican affairs probably will start over the second week in December, according to present plans.

Carranza's Interest Explained.—President Carranza's interest in the trial of Gen. Angeles is attributed to many persons acquainted with Mexican politics to the mistake to have been made by Gen. Angeles on his return to Mexico six months ago. In this mistake, Carranza was charged with the Mexican people were told that an effort would be made to bring their country out of chaos and to restore the constitution of 1857.

Mexico Guards In Pistol Duel Is Allegation

Charge Former El Pasoan Attempted to Smuggle Liquor.

Salvador Duran, formerly a resident of El Paso, was arrested by the Mexican fiscal guards on the Rio Grande, five miles east of Juarez, and Thursday afternoon was brought into Juarez. He is said to have engaged in a pistol duel with guards.

According to story brought to Juarez they saw Duran and Jesus Villalobos, attempting to smuggle liquor into the United States. Duran is said to have been wearing a fiscal guard badge without proper authority, and to have carried a rifle and pistol. The guards say as he started across the river they called to him to stop and he opened fire upon them immediately. The guards returned the fire and maneuvered to cut Duran off from the American side. When he had been surrounded he surrendered.

The detention of a Mexican woman who was attempting to drive a wagon across the river northwest of El Paso, with 15 Mexican women and children in it. The plan, according to the fiscal guards, was to smuggle head tax demanded by American immigration authorities. Jesus Marquez also was brought to Juarez, having been arrested near the smelter on the Mexican side trying to import 12 quarts of tequila. It is stated.

though he was reported to be friendly up to a few years ago.

During the Carranza revolution, when Carranza was in power, Obregon was state of Sonora, the latter put down the revolution with a strong hand. He joined Carranza in 1914.

In 1914 he took the field against Francisco Villa and at Celaya administered the state of Sonora.

Obregon reported Carranza's arm in the engagement. He was made secretary of state by Carranza in 1915.

During his campaign of 1915 and 1916 Obregon was reported to have had several German officers in his command. It was said he had pro-German leanings during the world war.

At a banquet given in his honor here in December, 1915, Obregon invited Carranza and Carranza returned to Chihuahua and repaid their propitiation to give the people work. It was reported he had stress on the peacefulness of the region.

The Cusi Mining company in January sent its men into Mexico to follow Carranza's army.

On Feb. 1, 1916, the Americans were attacked by a band of bandits and 15 massacred.

Gonzales Strong Military Man.—Gen. Pablo Gonzales is a general of division under Carranza and commander of the northern military zone. He said to be the strongest military follower of the president. He was chief of operations in Sonora and active under Madero in 1911. In 1912 he defeated Huertista troops in the Tampico district. He was military governor of the district of Mexico until the spring of 1916, when he became commander of the northern military zone.

Gonzales is reported to be friendly to Americans and one of the Carranza officers during the world war whose sympathies were strongly in Carranza's camp. He is reported to be a bitter opponent of Obregon.

DEATHS AND BURIALS.

MISS THELMA WILLIAMS, 17, DIED AT EL PASO RESIDENCE. The daughter of Mrs. A. L. Williams, 1711 East Boulevard, died at her home at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, after an illness of two weeks. Following the arrival of an uncle, J. H. McMillan, of El Paso, the body will be sent to Alamogordo, N. M. for burial. The time of the funeral has not been decided.

Passports Taken Up By Customs Officials

Customs officials Thursday night took up the passports of a dozen or more persons returning from Juarez. Arrests followed in each case on charges of drunkenness. They were placed against the men at police headquarters.

The action of the bridge guards was due to a request of local customs officials as a measure to preserve the peace.

JUAREZ MERCHANTS HAVE PLENTIFUL SUGAR SUPPLY

Juarez has a plentiful supply of sugar. Merchants at that city today confirmed a report to the effect that sugar in large quantities recently shipped from Juarez through El Paso, bound for various Mexican cities, has been kept in Juarez.

This country is retailing at 20 cents a kilo, or about 15 cents a pound. Wholesalers are offering American-made sugar at $12 per 100 pounds. Custom regulations of Mexico, however, prohibit shipping of sugar in large quantities to El Paso. Retail purchasers may buy sugar for their own consumption in small lots and may bring it into the United States without customs tax.

TECHNICALITY LAW ON FIRE POLICES ATTACKED

Austin, Tex., Nov. 28.—Validity of the so-called technicality law of 1913, applying to fire insurance policies, is attacked in the case of Central Fire Insurance Co. v. The Citizens Fire Insurance Co. from Dallas, submitted on oral argument before the commission of appeals.

This law provides that no defense shall be urged on account of breach of the policy, unless such breach contributed to the cause of the fire. The insurance company takes the position that the title and body of the law, when read together, do not apply to the material provisions of the policy. This contention was sustained by the trial court and also by the court of civil appeals, and should it be upheld by the supreme court, it would virtually render this act inoperative.
